Clarity In a Complex Industry

Managing overall carrier services in any organization can be a complicated task and moving target. Multiple phone carriers, different voice providers at each location, auto renewals that creep up, WAN and Internet connectivity, slow legacy technology...these are all services which need to be monitored. Few companies really have the time and resources to optimize services, stay on top of emerging technology, consolidate providers where appropriate, and make sure they are aligned with your strategic business objectives.

As your trusted advisor, with over 50 years of combined industry experience, Catalyst Group has the expertise to simplify the chaos. Through a comprehensive assessment, we'll work directly with you to assess your needs and future business applications and then act as a strategic partner to assess multiple options as a completely vendor-neutral resource.
